

36TH LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT

Government Guide

2004 Edition

*Senator Jeanne
Kohl-Welles*

Senator Jeanne Kohl-Welles

January 2004

Dear Constituents:

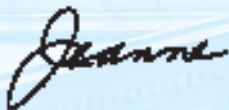

November's election whirl has wound down and some of your elected officials have changed. To help keep you up to date, I have provided this 2003-2004 edition of the 36th Legislative District Government Guide.

Inside, you will find information to easily access your government officials and community resources. Federal, state and local government offices and services are included, as well as information about many of the community organizations in our area.

You also will find a "mini newsletter" in the center of the guide, which provides a brief summary of the 2003 legislative session and a look ahead to the upcoming session in January.

I hope you find the guide and legislative information useful. As always, I appreciate hearing from constituents. Please contact me if I can be of any assistance.

Best Wishes,

Sen. Jeanne Kohl-Welles
36th Legislative District

Stay in touch!

Please keep me informed of your ideas, concerns and community activities.

E-Newsletter: If you wish to subscribe to my E-Newsletter listserv, please go to my website: <http://www.leg.wa.gov/senator/members/senmem36.htm> and click on the link "Subscribe to Sen. Kohl-Welles' email list pilot project here." I will send out periodic E-Newsletters to you.

Senator Jeanne Kohl-Welles

Dear Constituents:

Best wishes to you as we begin 2004.

This pull-out newsletter is designed to give you a brief summary of the 2003 legislative session and a preview of what's coming up in 2004. While we accomplished a great deal during the 2003 legislative session, we still have much work to do.

I look forward to learning about your concerns and ideas in the months ahead. The residents of the 36th Legislative District have a great track record of community involvement, and I encourage you to contact my office.

Sincerely,

Sen. Jeanne Kohl-Welles
36th Legislative District

2003 session: A tough drill

We grappled with a very difficult task during the 2003 legislative session: balancing a budget with a $2.6 billion shortfall. Although we were able to stave off some of the more drastic cuts proposed at the beginning of the session, the final budget still made more sacrifices than I could support:

- School districts throughout the state are struggling as the Legislature cut funding for many K-12 programs and suspended two popular education initiatives that invested in smaller class size and increased teacher pay.

Senator Jeanne Kohl-Welles

- College students are finding it more difficult to get into and afford the school of their choice because higher education institutions are reducing enrollments and raising tuition to make up for decreased state support.
- More than 30,000 people — most of whom work — are no longer eligible for the Basic Health Plan, which provides health care for low-income families. This policy might save money now, but will cost us dearly in the future.
- Our hospitals are bearing a greater burden for treating people who have no medical insurance as a result of reduced reimbursements from the state for funding of the medically indigent program.
- State employees are without a cost-of-living raise for another two years; at the same time, they're paying a larger share of their medical coverage, the effect of which is a pay cut. And health care coverage for most working families is skyrocketing.

This year's budget is a painful reminder that our state needs to change the way we raise revenue. I believe we must seriously examine what it is our citizens need and want in state government services and develop a sustainable way to pay for it. This includes tax reform.

We have a regressive system that taxes poor and middle income people too much. Our system is also unfair to business, taxing gross income instead of net earnings. With over 50% of our revenue coming from sales tax collections, I believe we need to make the system more fair and less vulnerable to fluctuations in the economy, as well as reduce the cost of government where feasible.

We also must focus our energies on sensible and effective economic development strategies. As a member of the Senate Economic Development Committee, I am calling attention to the role that higher education plays in helping Washington compete — and win — in today's international economy. Businesses tell us that investing in our workforce is one of their top priorities. We need to follow through by providing more, not less, support for our colleges and universities and reversing the current situation of highly paid skilled workers with bachelors and post-graduate degrees being imported from other states and countries.

Breaking through Washington's transportation logjam

I'm pleased to report that the Legislature approved a plan this session to make needed and long-overdue investments in our state's transportation system, even though additional funding is needed as a result of the State Supreme Court's upholding of I-776.

The landmark 10-year, $4.2 billion investment plan includes a list of projects and a revenue package to pay for them. Projects will improve safety and congestion on our state's highways, increase freight mobility, preserve ferries and terminals, and create construction jobs. And, Rep. Helen Sommers, Rep. Mary Lou Dickerson and I are working with local 36th District business owners and community leaders in making sure the Alaskan Way Viaduct continues to provide access to our communities as decisions are made about the Viaduct's replacement or retrofit.

Revenue is coming from a one-time, 5-cent gas-tax increase, a 15 percent increase in weight fees for commercial trucks and a 0.3 percent sales tax on motor vehicles. All three took effect July 1.

For the 36th District and Seattle, this means improvements to:

- The Alaskan Way Viaduct
- Construction of the Galer Street pedestrian bridge over Aurora Ave. North
- Seismic retrofitting and painting of the George Washington bridge

Capital budget benefits arts, parks in the 36th Legislative District

Although this was a difficult year for the state's operating budget, the capital budget fared better. Because interest rates were low, it was a good time to make the most of bond-financed capital projects. It was also an opportunity to create construction-related jobs and help improve our state's economy.

The 36th District will benefit from the following capital budget projects:

- Marion Oliver McCaw Hall — $2 million for the state's new regional performance hall at the Seattle Center. The world-class facility is attracting local and internationally renowned performing artists and helping stimulate the local economy by providing jobs and entertainment revenue.

Senator Jeanne Kohl-Welles

- Thyme Patch Park — $5,000 for a new neighborhood park and P-Patch garden in Ballard. Features include demonstration gardens, seating areas and community gardening plots, all fully accessible to wheelchairs.

Making prescription drugs more affordable

One of the major victories this session was passage of a measure that will help make prescription drugs more affordable for low-income seniors and people with disabilities. The new law includes:

- A prescription drug discount program for people 50 years of age or older with incomes below 300 percent of the federal poverty level ($36,360 for a family of two).
- Help with finding low-cost prescriptions via a toll-free information line.
- 'Brown bag' educational programs for senior citizens at Area Agencies on Aging.
- A state buying consortium that will help state agencies negotiate lower prices with drug manufacturers. This provision is estimated to reduce state costs by $16 million during the next two years.

For more information about these new prescription-drug programs, you can view information online at www.rx.wa.gov. You may also contact Erica Barker, Project Coordinator, at (206) 521-2027.

Some of the bills I introduced that became law...

SB 6051 — Changes tax payment date for businesses (amended onto HB 2269). Requires businesses with total tax liability of $240,000 or more to report and pay their excise taxes on the 20th of the month instead of the 25th, adding millions of dollars of revenue to the state without increasing taxes.

SB 5165 — Requires training and policies on vehicular pursuits for all law-enforcement agencies in the state.

SB 6093 — Establishes a host committee to plan for the 2005 annual meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures in Seattle, which will bring in over $17 million in revenue.

Senator Jeanne Kohl-Welles

SB 5304 — Increases high-demand enrollments (incorporated into the budget). Creates additional enrollment opportunities for students in high demand fields in our universities and colleges.

SB 5532 — Increases protections for mail-order brides by requiring International Matchmaking Organizations (IMO's) operating in Washington state to notify them that they may receive information on prospective spouses' history of domestic violence and child abuse (amended onto HB 1826).

SB 5660 — Creates the Educational Assistance Grant Program, which provides grants of private funds to low-income college students for childcare and dependent related needs (companion bill HB 1277 enacted).

SSB 6005 — Authorizes selling of microbrew beer at farmers markets (House companion bill, HB 2118 enacted).

Survey results

Last February, I mailed a survey to constituents as part of my legislative session newsletter. Over 1,550 constituents responded, helping me to learn about their priorities and how to represent you more effectively.

Following are the results of three of the major questions on the survey.

1. With a deficit of at least $2 billion, it is likely that the Legislature will be forced to make cuts to state programs and services in order to balance the budget. How would you rate each of the following programs and services, on a 5 point scale with 1 = should be cut and 5 = should not be cut?

2004 Session Preview

Access to quality higher education continues to be one of my top priorities, and I am a member of two legislative groups working to improve higher education access and funding. One group is making recommendations on a long-range plan for higher education and ways to serve more than 33,000 additional students over the next ten years. The other group is examining ways to provide more flexibility to public colleges and universities in exchange for a performance contract to meet statewide goals.

36th Legislative District Day — Monday, Feb. 16 (Presidents' Day)

Please join me, along with state Reps. Mary Lou Dickerson and Helen Sommers, on Monday, Feb. 16, for the 36th Legislative District Day in Olympia when we will be meeting with constituents. It's an excellent way to talk to us and get a first-hand look at state government in action. Here's the tentative schedule:

10:30 a.m. — Meet in Senate Hearing Room 1 in the John A. Cherberg Building to kick off the day, receive a legislative schedule and tour the capitol campus.

Noon to 1:00 p.m. — Brown bag lunch in Senate Hearing Room 1. After lunch, the rest of the day is yours. Depending on the Legislature's schedule, you can sit in on a committee hearing or watch Senate or House floor proceedings.

For further details, please call my legislative assistant, Ken Camp, at 360-786-7670. For carpool/transportation information, call Thomas Whittemore at (206) 390-9606.

Senator Jeanne Kohl-Welles

In addition, I am a member of a subcommittee on higher education access and funding of the Governor's Competitiveness Council. This Council recognizes that access to a top quality higher education is crucial for the competitiveness of both Washington's business and citizens.

Some bills I'll be working on this session...

- SB 5436 — Requiring school districts to set policies on selling of junk food in schools.
- SB 5533 — Tightening requirements for hiring of school employees to avoid sexual misconduct with students.
- SB 5798 — Requiring landlords to provide information to apartment tenants on potential health hazards associated with indoor molds.
- SB 5947 — Determining what constitutes a 60-day supply of medical marijuana under the 1998 voter-approved I-692.
- I-200 bill — Amending our I-200 statute by codifying U.S. Supreme Court decision in University of Michigan case.
- Sexual harassment policies and training for state agencies
- Prohibiting cover-up of clergy abuse.

Update on Galer Street pedestrian overpass

At last, construction has begun on the long awaited Galer Street Pedestrian bridge over Aurora Ave. North on the east side of Queen Anne Hill. The work is expected to be completed in March.

Town Hall Meeting w/Sen. Pat Thibaudeau (43rd Legislative District)

Please join Senator Pat Thibaudeau and me for a Town Hall Meeting on Saturday, January 31st from 10 a.m. to noon.

This meeting is an opportunity to hear about the legislative session, ask questions and share your concerns about:

- the state budget and revenue
- funding for schools, colleges, human services, public safety and environmental protection
- transportation
- prescription drug coverage and health care
- other issues of concern before the Legislature

The location is Room 100 at Antioch University, which is located in Belltown at 2326 6th Ave., between Battery and Bell Streets. Rooftop and street parking are available. For more information, please call my legislative assistant, Ken Camp, at (360) 786-7670.
